

Bernburg, June 10, 2017

Poster Competition "My 3D Landscape" for Digital Landscape Architecture 2017, June 7-10 in Bernburg, Germany

Dear Authors of Posters for the DLA 2017

Thank you for submitting to the poster award of the DLA 2017 conference.

By May 10, 2017, we could award Aiste Ambrazeviciute from Vienna, and Stefan Eklöf from Finland a travel grant of 250 Euro each. We enjoyed their company throughout the conference.

By May 30, 2017, the DLA conference team had received 42 posters online and published them in the DLA 2017 Brochure on page 30-72 (Link to .pdf) with the technical information given.

We posted these posters at the conference as A3 sheets on individual boards.

Fifteen of the poster authors hung their original sized A1 posters on these prepared boards.

A number of authors also provided links to the "4D" online versions of their posters.

Many posters show highly sophisticated digital landscape architecture applications.

The 125 conference participants were asked to evaluate each poster of the exhibition between 1 (weak) and 5 (outstanding) points.

The results of this evaluation of the exhibition between June 8 and 9, 2017 led to the following ranking:

Results Poster Competition "My 3D Landscape" DLA 2017

Congratulations to the 25 best rated authors!

Even though the authors who ranked second and third had been not attending the conference, it is obvious that generally poster authors who explained their posters and discussed them with the participants received more points.

This dialog between young and more experienced participants is one of the main emphases of the DLA conference series. So we are happy that everyone sending in had a chance, but young professionals attending in person had a better chance to win a higher nomination.

Cash prizes were given only to authors who presented their posters in person.

DLA Poster Award Ceremony June 10, 2017

(from left to right):

Prof. Erich Buhmann (DLA Chair),
Aiste Ambrazeviciute, Stefan Eklöf, Sarath Kapplangat Sarasa,
Jessica Seriani Hermanto, Mathias Feimer, Waqas Wajid
and Prof. Dr. Elena Kashtanova
(Dean Dep. 1, Anhalt University)

We thank all authors for their work and our sponsors for supporting this competition.

The 25 best rated are now asked to send us their postal address so we can send them their book and the certifications for their successful ranking in this competition and their book.

Please send to loel.dla@hs-anhalt.de

First and family name, and complete postal address

See you at the next DLA!

Prof. Erich Buhmann

Attachment: Table DLA 2017 Poster Evaluation